TIMELINE OF VOTING ANALYSIS

Votes and Electors by Year
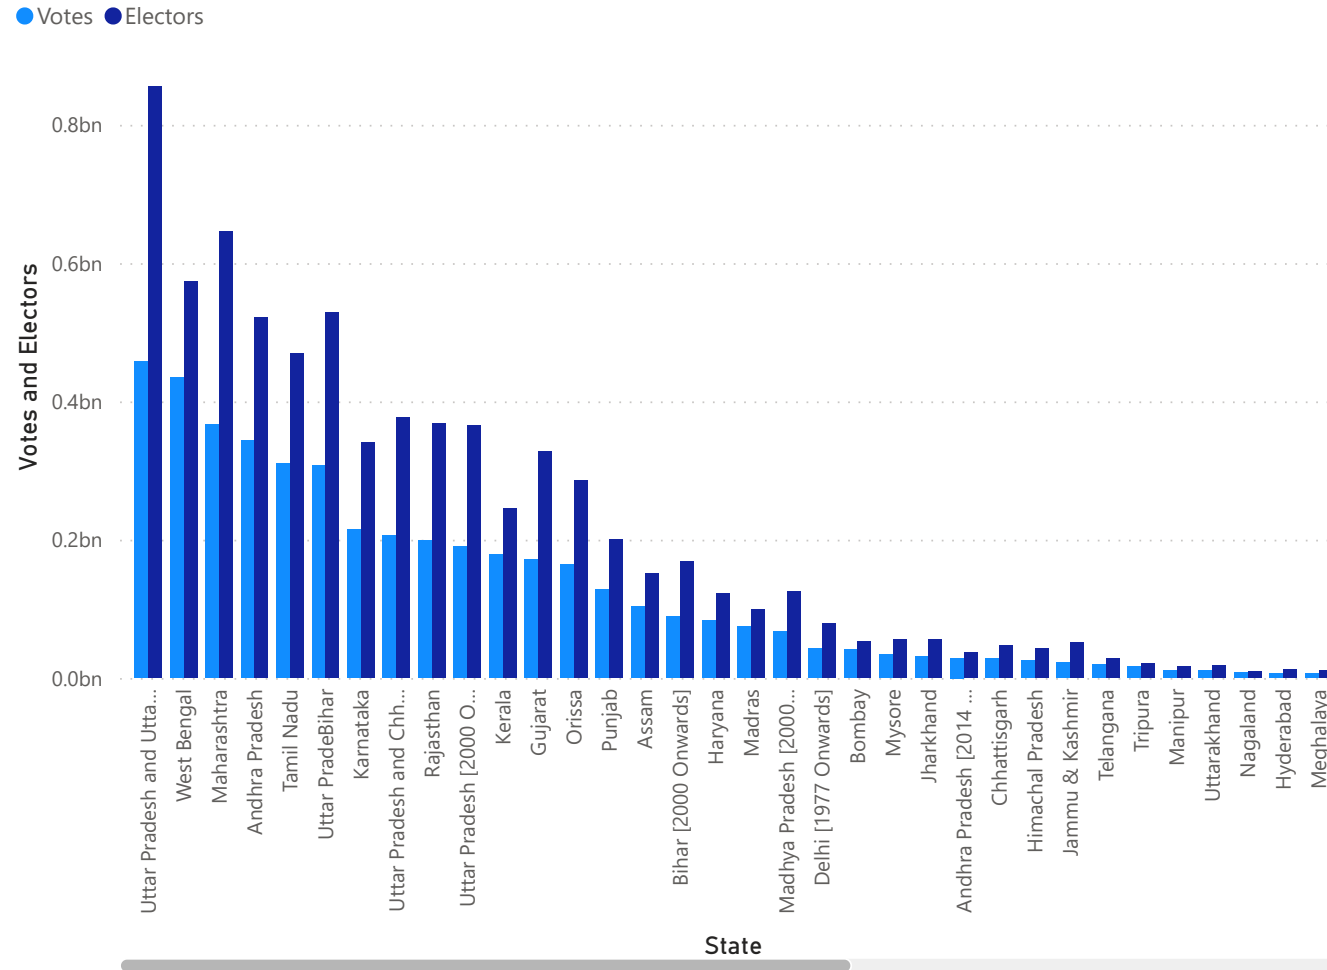

● Votes ● Electors
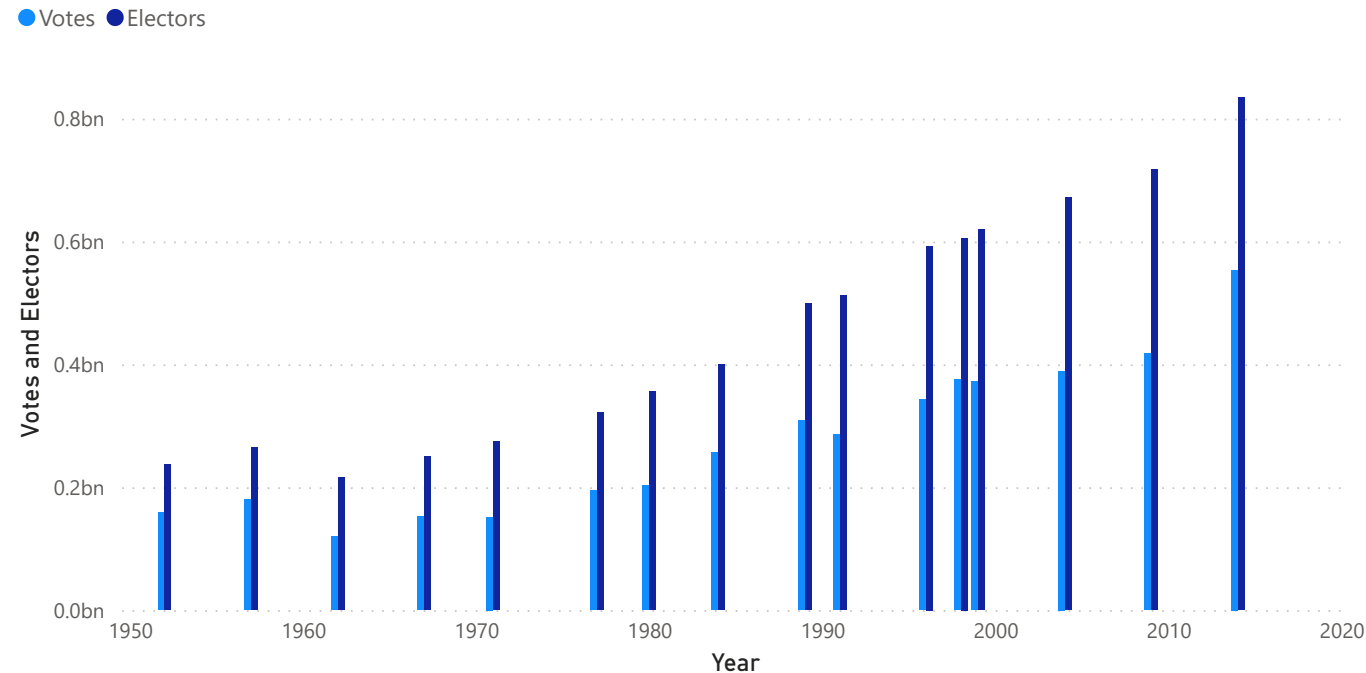

During the formation of the Republic of India in 1950, the first voting sessions were conducted. The Total Votes increased during the first two sessions, but declined in 1962. In 1967, the number of Votes increased but did not surpass the count of 1957, till 1971. From 1971 till 1989, the electors counts have increased exponentially, which dropped marginally in 1991. After 1991, till 1998, the exponential growth continued till it dropped marginally, once again, in 1999. The 21st century witnesses an exponential growth, with no drop till the present.

The number of Electors dropped only in 1962, after which it exponentially increased till the present, with marginal exceptions of growth in 1991, 1998 and 1999, with respect to it respective previous years.
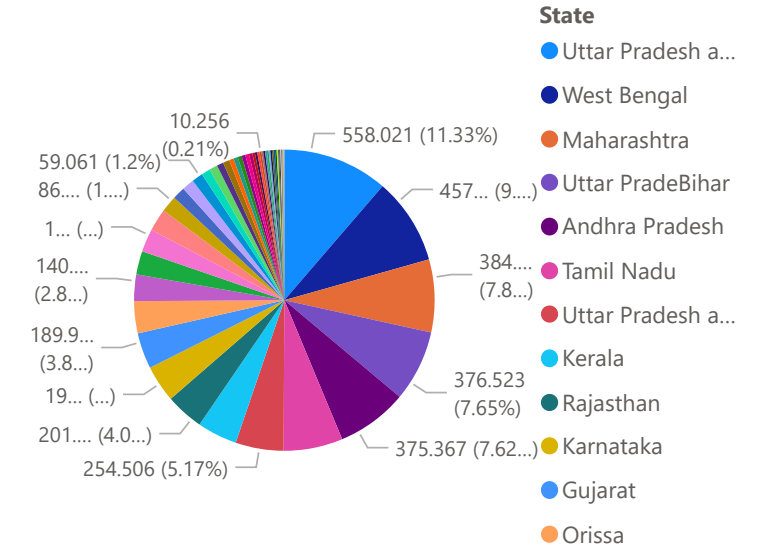

The ratio of the Vote counts to the Elector Counts have been decreasing over time, with a slight increase in 2014.
